

Snow ends, sunshine returns...but cold stays

What a difference 24 hours can make

Rain fell over the area most of Saturday but a little before 8 p.m., the moisture started intermittently turning icy as a prelude to the snow that fell overnight. Churches canceled services and streets were empty for the most part Sunday morning as road crews worked and residents removed snow and ice from cars and sidewalks. By Sunday afternoon around 3, the sun was shining brilliantly over the river valley once again but the bitter cold air hung on and will for a few more hours. Snow gone for few days; cold still here, rain ahead

Courier staff report
The winter storm that crossed through the state Saturday brought gusty winds, varied snow accumulations and extremely cold temperatures.
The front is gone, taking with it the falling snow and some of the wind, but it leaving behind the cold for a while.
Here is the forecast for this area from the National Weather Service:
Expect a low tonight around 15, wind chill as low as 5.
The high Tuesday will be near 45 with a wind chill as low as 7 early in the day. The low Tuesday night will be around 40 with the possibility of precipitation between a half and three-quarters of an inch.

Temperatures will stay in the 40s Wednesday and more rain is to be expected. The low at night will drop to around 25.
By Thursday the high will be only in the low 30s during the day and around 12 at night as snow showers return.
Friday will be a high around 19 with a low around 11.
A 40 percent chance of snow showers re- turns Saturday with a high near 29.
More show showers expected Sunday with a high around 26.

Heard and seen online as the wintery blast hit us

Madison Courier contributor Peggy Vlerebome was spending time during the snowfall last night perusing Facebook. Here is some of what she found:
• The Cornerstone Society preservation group had its annual meeting Saturday night from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Art on Main downtown. "Who knew when we named our Annual Meeting event 'Winter Blast' that it was prophetic?" society president Link Ludington posted on the society's Facebook page Sunday. "But still good attendance...good conversation and a celebration of preservation in Madison."

• The Red Roaster Coffee and Eatery posted to Facebook at 8 a.m. a picturesque shot of its outdoor tables and chairs with snow.
• Hilltop resident and Madison City Councilmember Laura Hodges answered a question on Facebook from an out-of-town relative about the Madison weather. "We have 3-4 inches of snow this morning. And it's pretty cold!" Later she posted

• Widely circulating on Facebook was a suggestion from a viewer to WBTW, the CBS affiliate in Charlotte, North Carolina, about how to drive on snow: "If you rarely drive on snow, just pretend you're taking your grandma to church. There's a platter of biscuits and 2 gallons of sweet tea in glass jars in the back seat. She's wearing a new dress and holding a crock pot full of gravy."

Deputy hits $5,000 in rebuilding goal

By TRENTON SCROGGINS
Deputy Volunteer Fire Department reached its $5,000 goal on its Facebook fundraiser yesterday after 32 days and 115 users donated to help rebuild what the department lost in a blaze last December.
Since the fire, support poured into the Deputy community from across the country to help replace its firehouse, vehicles and equipment, Fire Chief Mike Hazelwood said.
German Township in Vanderburgh County and Anderson (Indiana's) Fire Department donated two of the three vehicles now being used by the department. Hanover's Volunteer Fire Department has loaned a vehicle for Deputy to use throughout the rebuilding process.
On Dec. 20, 2018, the Deputy Fire Department posted thanks on Facebook for donations from a chili supper and basketball events at Deputy Elementary

On Dec. 23, 2018, Deputy shared news of borrowed equipment — air packs and bottles and a ground monitor — from Scottsburg Fire. That same day, they were talking with Hanover Fire about borrowing a tanker truck until they were able to replace those that were lost.
On Jan. 7, 2019, the fire department shared the news of its newly donated 2000 Pierce engine from the Anderson Fire Department, thanking the firehouse for its contribution.
And, more help is ahead.
The Kent Volunteer Fire Company will have a fish fry at the Kent Fire Department to benefit the Deputy department

The Deputy Volunteer Fire Department pulled its trucks out of the burned fire station Jan. 17, a month after the vehicles were destroyed in a fire. (Photos from the Deputy Volunteer Fire Department's Facebook page) from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 2.
Those who want to make a donation to help the Deputy Fire Department can mail a check or money order, made out to Deputy Volunteer Fire Department, to POBox 135 Deputy, Indiana 47230. The department asks donors to place a return address on the envelope.

Hanover Hill closed 3 days this week

Courier staff report
Indiana Department of Transportation maintenance operations will close State Road 56 at "Hanover Hill" this Wednesday, Jan. 23; Thursday, Jan. 24; and Friday, Jan. 25 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.
INDOT officials advise local motorists to access downtown Madison from Indiana 7. Commercial vehicles should detour around the closure at U.S. Highway 421.

Personnel from the Madison Unit will patch shoulder areas along Indiana 56 while making concrete ditch repairs. Crews will also remove debris and trees that were downed by a recent ice storm. All operations are weather dependent.
Indiana 56 will be closed at Indiana 62 at the hilltop —and at Indiana 7 near downtown Madison beyond the power plant. Access will be maintained to entrances/exits.

Scott County, Austin get med facility, water work grants

Indiana

CHARLESTOWN — Scott County has received $500,000 to renovate a building into a medical facility, and Austin has received $550,000 for a wastewater system improvements. Grants were awarded to 19 rural communities from the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs. The grants are part of the Community Development Block Grant, which is meant to help rural communities with projects that will improve infrastructure, revitalize their downtowns, improve public facilities and economic development. “Indiana’s economy relies on strong rural communities, and completing these projects will positively impact all 19 communities that received funding,” said State Sen. Chris Garten (R-Charlestown), who represents District 45. The medical facility project includes acquisition of a building and renovations that will improve infectious disease services as well as general medical treatment for people with low-to-moderate income within the county.

Police wiretapping dispute continues

SOUTH BEND — A long-running dispute over wiretapping within South Bend’s police department will continue and could go to trial, after city officials rejected a proposed agreement with officers who want to block the tapes’ release. The South Bend Common Council last week unanimously voted to reject any settlement agreement that may have been reached in mediation, The South Bend Tribune reported. The legal battle had cost the city almost $2 million as of September. Robert Palmer, the attorney representing the council, said both sides couldn’t reach an agreement on how to handle the tapes. He said that since compromise isn’t an option, the fate of the tapes will rest on whether the police department is found to have violated wire-tap laws. The legal fight dates back to 2012, when the council issued a subpoena demanding Mayor Pete Buttigieg turn over the tapes. The mayor’s office refused to disclose the tapes, alleging they were made illegally because the officer whose department phone line was tapped wasn’t aware of the recording.

Regulators review coal ash cleanup plans

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana environmental regulators are reviewing utilities’ cleanup plans for dozens of coal ash ponds, with one environmental group concerned that the plans don’t do enough to address potential contamination. The cleanup efforts come after utilities across the country admitted last year to leaking toxic chemicals from their coal ash ponds into nearby groundwater, The Indianapolis Star reported. Indiana is home to roughly 85 coal ash ponds — more than any other state — which hold more than 60 million cubic yards of coal ash. The Northern Indiana Public Service Company said it plans to remove ash from five ponds at one of its plants. Several other utilities, including Duke Energy, plan to keep the ash in place when they close their ponds. The Indiana Department of Environmental Management is reviewing the plans and has asked utilities for additional information. The agency sent letters to utilities in December noting that it can’t give approval until utilities show how the plans will control contamination.

County to build Amish buggy lanes

WAKARUSA — A county with a large Amish population is moving ahead with plans to add lanes along local roads just for horse-drawn buggies. Elkhart County’s commissioners voted earlier this month in favor of building the buggy lanes. Commissioner Mike Yoker told WSBT-TV that the lanes are needed because of recent accidents, some of them deadly, involving buggies. Yoder says nearly three miles of buggy lanes are planned along a county road near Wakarusa, and State Routes 19 and 119. He says the roads will be widened to accommodate the buggies-only lanes. Yoder says the roadways carry everything from semi-trucks to passenger cars to Amish buggies “so it’s a really good project to improve public safety.”

3 Indiana men charged in 2017 deaths

WILLIAMSBURG — Authorities have charged three men with murder in connection with the deaths of three family members in Kentucky more than a year ago. Emogene Bittner and her son, Robert “Little Man” Kennedy III, 16, were found dead in their Whitley County home in September 2017 along with Bittner’s husband, Christopher Bittner. Authorities at the time said all three appeared to have been strangled. News outlets report Anthony L. Hester, 33, Jeremy S. Hatfield, 34, and Darnell Chivers, 38, have all been arrested and charged with murder, first-degree burglary and tampering with physical evidence. Police in Williamsburg, Kentucky, announced

STATE BRIEFS

Chivers is in jail on unrelated charges. Hatfield was arrested in Indiana and extradited to Kentucky last month. Hester was arrested Friday in Indiana by local and federal law enforcement agencies.

Billboards to tout school bus safety

LIGONIER — A foundation is teaming up with a school district to use billboards to remind motorists to stop for school buses when their stop-arms are down. The Community Foundation of Noble County has agreed to fund the public safety campaign enlisting 13 billboards, in cooperation with the West Noble School Corporation. The campaign comes after three young siblings were struck and killed in October by a pickup truck as they crossed a Fulton County road to board their school bus. The (Kendallville) News-Sun reports the billboards will feature a school bus, three children boarding it and the message, “Slow Down and Caution: It’s the law.”

Recovery home founder gets early release

NEW ALBANY — The founder of a drug recovery home for women in southern Indiana has been released from prison just weeks after the state’s high court revised her original 30-year drug-related sentence. Lisa Livingston was released Wednesday from Rockville Correctional Facility, The News and Tribune reported. She said her release after nine months was “nothing short of a miracle.” “I’m just overwhelmed with gratitude, and I am just kind of in shock that I actually got to walk out the gate,” Livingston said shortly after her release. Livingston was arrested in 2013 but it wasn’t until last March that she was sentenced to 30 years after pleading guilty to five felonies, including drug-dealing, possession and having the ingredients to make drugs. On Dec. 28, the Indiana Supreme Court revised that sentence to a mandatory 23 years, with “whatever time remains (to) be served in community corrections.” The court noted Livingston’s efforts to help others struggling with drug addiction between her arrest and conviction. She founded the nonprofit Break-Away program in New Albany in 2017. “The evidence shows Livingston has committed no offenses since her arrest in August 2013 and has dedicated her time to becoming a productive member of her community and helping others who suffer from addiction,” the court’s decision said.

Amputee on mission to climb St. Louis arch

HOPKINSVILLE — Curtis Gill Jr. is ready to pick up his bed and walk. After losing his right leg to the rare bone cancer osteosarcoma and dealing with depression there after, Gill is on a mission to get his strength back — both physically and mentally — and to show others it’s possible to overcome. Gill has made it his mission to walk all 96 steps to the Gateway Arch in St. Louis. “I want to show people that it’s possible and raise money for other people who might be experiencing this,” he said. Earlier this month, Gill and his brother went around town to take pictures on steps in Little River Park, Trail of Tears and on top of a truck in front of the Justice Center. Vanderbilt University Medical Center has also agreed to let him film his walk up a flight of stairs on the Nashville campus, he said. Gill, who is originally from Georgia, moved to Hopkinsville in June 2014. Before the move, Gill admits that a doctor told him he had cancer in his leg after an unexpected fall landed him in the hospital, but he didn’t want to believe it. “Being young and indestructible, I said to myself I’m too young to have anything like that,” he recalled.

What’s a mom spa? Just opened for moms

FLORENCE — Every mom needs, not only some time but also a place to herself. No one knows this better than Heidi Bray, a 35-year-old mom of three. So when Bray discovered a Cincinnati-born spa concept she knew she wanted to bring it to Northern Kentucky. “I just love the concept, a spa for mom’s at every stage - prenatal, pregnant and postpartum,” Bray said. “I’m excited to be a part of the life of every mom who visits us and share with her in every stage she goes through.” Bray will officially open Becoming Mom Spa + Ultrasound, a full-service spa that caters just to mothers, at the end of January at 7715 Mall Road, Florence. Services include massage, facials, nails and ultrasounds. Every product used is natural and safe for expectant mothers. Staff members are specifically trained to work with moms in all stages of motherhood.

Noah’s Ark park battles advocacy group

LOUISVILLE — A theme park depicting an ark as described in the Bible is battling with an advocacy group over whether public school field trips to the attraction are legal. The Courier Journal reported the Freedom From Religion Foundation sent letters last month to more than 1,000 public school districts in five states telling them field trips to the Ark Encounter in northern Kentucky are unconstitutional. The letters said it was “unacceptable to expose a captive audience of impressionable students to the overtly religious atmosphere.” Ark Encounter founder Ken Ham responded by offering free admission to any public school that visits the park on a field trip. The park features a 510-foot long ark as described in the biblical book of Genesis.

911 dispatcher charged with sex crimes

FRANKFORT — State officials have arrested a 911 dispatcher and charged him with more than 150 counts of sex crimes. Kentucky Attorney General Andy Beshear said in a news release that Christopher James Carroll was arrested Friday in partnership with the U.S. Secret Service, the Hardin County Sheriff’s office and the Elizabethtown Police Department. Beshear said Carroll is accused of creating fake profiles on social media and convincing minors to send him nude photos. Carroll worked as a 911 dispatcher in Hardin County. The News-Enterprise reports Hardin County Attorney Jenny Oldham said Carroll is not accused of using county-owned computers to obtain the images. Carroll is at the Hardin County Detention Center on a $100,000 bond. His first court appearance is Tuesday.

FBI seeks help on ‘Traveling Bandit’

LEXINGTON — The FBI is asking for help finding a suspected bank robber nicknamed “The Traveling Bandit.” News outlets report the FBI believes the man has robbed at least seven banks in six states since Dec. 28. Friday, the FBI office in Louisville released photos of the man and the white SUV with Kentucky plates he might be driving. The Lexington Herald Leader reports the FBI would not say what county the vehicle is registered. The FBI said the man usually gives the clerk a note demanding money and threatening use of a weapon. The robberies include heists in Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Illinois and Utah. The most recent robbery was Wells Fargo Bank in Price Branch, Utah, on Thursday. Tornado damage in the Panhandle WETUMPKA, Ala. (AP) — Homes, businesses, government offices and churches were among the buildings badly damaged or demolished when tornadoes struck central Alabama over the weekend.

The severe weather hit Saturday and another tornado was reported later that evening at an air base in the Florida Panhandle.

On Sunday, the National Weather Service says its initial surveys indicated there was an EF 1 tornado in Autauga County, and a stronger EF2 in Wetumpka, Alabama.

Officials said at a news conference Sunday morning that at least 25 homes were seriously damaged or destroyed.

Also severely damaged were the Wetumpka police station, senior citizens center and recreation center, according to WSFA-TV .

Connecticut hard hit by ice in storm

HARTFORD, Connecticut (AP) — Connecticut Gov. Ned Lamont says his office is in close contact with utilities as they work to restore power to thousands of customers.

Connecticut is being hit hard by icy conditions caused by freezing rain and sleet. The National Weather Service says a layer of one-half inch of ice could accumulate in parts of the state as temperatures plummet.

Eversource and United Illuminating were combined reporting more than 20,000 customers without power early Sunday afternoon.

Lamont says hundreds of trucks are trying to clear and treat major roadways to prevent dangerous black ice conditions.

Hartford Mayor Luke Bronin extended the city’s parking ban to give public works crews more time to clear streets before the ice hardens.

Bronin said the city experienced more freezing rain and sleet than initially expected.

Amtrak to be back to full schedule today

BOSTON (AP) — Amtrak says it expects to have all of its trains back on a full schedule today after a weekend of cancellations and delays caused by the winter storm as it rolled through the Midwest and Northeast.

Among the lines impacted were the Acela Express between Boston and Washington; Empire Service between New York and Buffalo; the Lake Shore Limited that travels between Chicago, New York and Boston; and Keystone Service between New York, Philadelphia and Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Amtrak says travelers should continue to check on their train status on the Amtrak website or smartphone app before leaving for the station.

People should also be careful as they are getting on and off trains as platforms could still be slippery from ice.

Other modes of transportation were also affected by the winter storm. Amtrak cancelled trains on the busy D.C. to Boston corridor, as well as from New York City to upstate New York, New York to Pennsylvania and elsewhere due to snow and slippery roads.

Winter storm forces airline cancellations, road troubles

By COREY WILLIAMS

DETROIT (AP) — A plane carrying 129 people skidded Saturday from a slick Chicago runway and a plow driver was killed when his truck rolled over outside Kansas City following a winter storm that covered many parts of the Midwest in snow and ice.

No injuries were reported on the United Airlines flight at O’Hare International Airport as it arrived Saturday morning from Phoenix, Chicago Fire officials said. The massive storm which dumped 10 inches of snow on some areas in the Midwest prompted the cancellation of nearly 1,000 flights at Chicago’s airports. The average delay at O’Hare was nearly an hour Saturday afternoon.

Kansas Department of Transportation snowplow driver Stephen Windler, 25, died about 6 a.m. Saturday on U.S. Highway 69, according to the Wichita Eagle. A police crash report says his truck “traveled to the right, traversing the shoulder and drove into the grass” before it rolled over. Windler was thrown from the vehicle which landed on top of him.

The storm moved Saturday toward the Northeast and New England. Some northern parts of New England could see up to 18 inches of snow.

A 15-vehicle crash blocked a section of Interstate 55 in southeastern Missouri near Ste. Genevieve Saturday afternoon and drivers were urged to find an alternative route. In Detroit, many motorists were moving well below posted speed limits along freeways due to slushy conditions. Amtrak canceled some trains Saturday from Chicago to Washington and New York and between New York and Boston and Pennsylvania on Sunday.

In Nebraska, authorities closed Omaha’s Eppley Airfield on Friday afternoon after a Southwest Airlines plane slid off an ice-slicked runway. No one was injured. The airfield later reopened.

The snow was part of a wall of hazardous weather that moved from the Dakotas across the Great Lakes states. The storm brought snow, ice and strong winds, followed by deep cold. The highest snowfall totals were expected in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, which could see up to 18 inches.

But some Midwesterners weren’t going to let a little winter weather keep them from going outside.

In downtown Detroit, Celeste Tremmel was out training for a marathon amid heavy and steady snowfall.

“When you run a marathon, you run no matter the weather,” said Tremmel, who plans to run a March marathon in South Carolina.

Running in snow is “like running in sand, so you go a lot slower and it’s a lot more work,” she said. “I’m really tired ... but 40 degrees, wind and hail is worse.”

Further east, the National Weather Service in Albany, New York, said snow could fall at a rate of 1 to 3 inches an hour, creating “difficult to impossible travel conditions” in areas.

The storm prompted the cancellation of a Special Olympics competition in upstate New York. Nearly 200 athletes from around New York state were expected to compete in snowshoeing, snowboarding, cross country, and Nordic and Alpine skiing at West Mountain, just outside Glens Falls.

In New York City, the worst of the storm was expected from Saturday afternoon through Sunday afternoon, with snow accumulations of 3-6 inches, followed by rain that could turn to ice as temperatures drop later Sunday. Single-digit temperatures could last into Monday. Strong wind gusts beginning Sunday afternoon could bring down snow- or ice-burdened tree limbs and power lines.

Following the storm system, some areas of the Midwest were expecting high winds and bitter cold.

In Iowa, temperatures in the teens Saturday were expected to drop below zero overnight, producing wind chills as low as 20-below by Sunday morning.

Plane slides off ice-covered runway at Omaha’s airport

By MARGERY A. BECK

OMAHA, Nebraska (AP) — A passenger plane slid off an icy runway at Omaha’s airport on Friday as freezing drizzle coated thoroughfares across much of the state ahead of expected snow and high winds.

Eppley Airfield officials said via Twitter that no one was injured when the Southwest Airlines plane from Las Vegas went off the end of the runway after landing just after 2 p.m. Friday. The incident led authorities to close the airport Friday afternoon and suspend all flights for more than two hours.

“Airport fire crews are working with Southwest to deplane the passengers and take them to the terminal,” the airport’s Twitter account read.

The airport reopened shortly before 5 p.m., but airport officials warned that most flights would continue to be delayed.

Freezing drizzle and mist cut visibility and slicked roads and sidewalks in much of the eastern half of Nebraska on Friday as residents prepared for a second straight weekend of harsh winter weather.

The National Weather Service issued a winter weather advisory for much of the state, with snow expected by Friday evening into Saturday. The service had expected snowfall of more than 7 inches in some areas, but adjusted that downward by Friday afternoon to 1 to 3 inches.

Of more concern were high winds of up to 30 mph expected late Friday and into Saturday that could whip up snow, cutting visibility and pushing high-profile vehicles off slick roads. Artic air is expected to move into the state behind the storm, sending wind chills to as low as 20 below zero on Saturday and Sunday.

Schools in the Omaha area canceled or cut classes short Friday in anticipation of the storm.

Group forms caravan to help those in need around state

By JERRY CARINO

NEPTUNE, New Jersey (AP) — The temperature hovered around 20 degrees when Reggie Anderson and a handful of cohorts parked behind the ShopRite on Asbury Avenue. They unloaded a small truckload of goods: high-quality sleeping bags, blankets, hats, scarves and toiletries.

A few moments later two men emerged from the adjacent woods. They represented a homeless encampment of a dozen or so people who live in tents amid the trees. They knew Anderson was coming, and they were happy to see him.

So were other folks around the state on a recent Saturday, as Anderson and fellow members of MTN Organization, a Jackson-based nonprofit, made their annual “Friends Feed the Homeless” caravan to help the less fortunate.

This was their most expansive one yet, hitting the train stations at Asbury Park, New Brunswick and Newark (Penn Station), plus homeless encampments in Neptune and Howell. They handed out a total of 507 care packages, plus roughly the same amount of bag lunches, as well as 175 winter coats.

“We get such a positive response,” said Yvette Anderson, who co-runs the charity along with Reggie Anderson, her husband. “What we hear the most is, ‘Thanks for not forgetting about us.’”

New this year, a handful of registered nurses offered basic health screenings at the train stations.

Another new twist: The winter coats were set up on portable racks, to provide more of a shopping experience.

Such attention to detail has helped elevate MTN Organization (the MTN stands for Meet the Need) from a passion project into a full-fledged charity. The Andersons, who live in Jackson, started in 2010 with Thanksgiving baskets for struggling local families and a Christmas toy drive for underprivileged children. Now they have a full calendar of outreaches, including a weekly pop-up food pantry.

Timberlake pops in on patients at Texas children's hospital

DALLAS (AP) — Justin Timberlake has pulled some sunshine from his pocket for the patients at a Texas children's hospital.

Timberlake took a break from his "Man of the Woods" tour to pop in and pose for pictures with the young patients at HCA Healthcare's Methodist Children's Hospital in San Antonio.

A video of the kids was widely shared all week, with many in their hospital beds as they danced to Timberlake's hit "Can't Stop The Feeling" with its refrain of "got some sunshine in my pocket." The kids held up signs that read "JT See me!" and on Friday afternoon JT obliged.

One girl in a picture with Timberlake held up a sign that read "JT saw me!"

The 37-year-old pop star recently resumed his tour after canceling several dates because of bruised vocal chords.

DAILY HOROSCOPES

Tuesday, January 22, 2019

Lessons from the past and the present should be combined to help you reach the goals you want to meet in the future. An open heart and mind encourage you to partner with like-minded people to reach a common goal. Personal improvement is featured.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — Consider your talents and skills and how best to apply them to the current market. A partnership will turn out to be advantageous. Positive change is heading your way.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — Live and learn. Experience is a great teacher, and by participating in events you'll discover your skills and attributes. Trust in yourself, not in someone who is being manipulative.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Follow your heart and do what makes you feel good about who you are and what you have to offer. Refuse to let anyone put demands on you or interfere in your plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Protect personal information. Work at your own speed and focus on what you do best. Second-guessing your ability will put you in a vulnerable position. Don't limit what you can do.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Focus on home, family and important relationships. Protect yourself against those who are trying to interfere in your personal life. Think before you make a change that is likely to give someone else the upper hand.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Look at every angle and consider what's in your best interest. A partnership should be carefully considered. Joint ventures are likely to take a sudden turn that will leave you holding the bag.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Have some fun, make personal changes and express your true feelings. If you make way for new beginnings, you'll get a chance to use your skills and talents creatively.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Put a limit on your spending and stay focused on what's important to you. Personal change may not be wanted, but it will turn out to be beneficial.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Updating your look or sharing something special with a loved one will help you gain perspective and encourage you to walk away from disruptive influences.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Taking a business trip, engaging in talks or dealing with matters that are causing you grief will put your mind at ease. Change will come at a price. Weigh the pros and cons.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Personal gain should be your focus. Physical fitness, better health and financial stability should be your goals. A romantic gesture will improve your life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Accept the inevitable and keep moving forward. Arguing won't help you get what you want; it will only slow the process. Trust in yourself, not an outsider.

Dear Annie: Here I am, 78 years old, heading into another New Year's resolution. I'm hoping you will let me share my sentiments with your readers.

With all the chaos, craziness and crassness currently occurring in our environment, I have decided to become a drum major for justice, fairness, equality, opportunity and responsibility. Instead of waiting for others, I have decided to make it happen for myself — and, I hope, others.

For me, no more hatred, anger, greed, selfishness, envy or fear. That's a tall order, but I can do this. Why not?

I firmly believe that love conquers hate, that light overcomes darkness. I can do it. Yes, I can! As Martin Luther King Jr. so eloquently emphasized, "darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that."

Similarly, I know that hating people because they are "others" and "different" can be overcome and eradicated if we try. I fully agree with Nelson Mandela: "No one is born hating another person because of the color of his skin or his background or his religion.

Annie Lane

this. I can see those "thousand points of light." I can be a member of that "shining city upon a hill." To those naysayers and disbelievers, I would challenge you to look in the mirror and become all that you can be. It has been saliently espoused that the most powerful force in the universe is an idea whose time has come.

Accordingly, it is possible that I can accomplish all this. If I can conceive and believe it, then I can achieve it. All I need to do is to activate and implement those 10 most empowering words: "If it is to be, it is up to me!"

I resolve to be kind, generous, forgiving and thoughtful of others. Imagine the positivity and reciprocity of this possibility. I know that I can do all this. I can "talk the talk and walk the walk" when it comes to practicing and implementing this resolution for 2019 and beyond.

Simply put, as I progress through this second decade of the 21st century and approach the eighth decade of my life, I can do this for myself — and for you. In summary, what a fantastic and fabulous New Year's resolution — for 2019 and beyond. — John L. Horton

Dear John: I know this is printing a bit late in the month, but your sentiments are so positive and your positivity so contagious that I couldn't pass up sharing your letter with readers. Thanks for writing. Wishing you a very blessed rest of 2019.

Dear Annie: Recently, someone wrote to you about how someone's home was broken into during a family funeral. The burglars knew no one would be home because of the obituary that had been printed in the paper. Our family has a tradition of having someone in the home of the deceased during the funeral to prevent exactly this type of event. Family lore tells of a long-lost relative's showing up during the funeral and laying claim to some prized candlesticks, saying, "Dad wanted me to have these." — Continually Cautious

Dear Continually Cautious: I commend your cautiousness and lament the callousness of those who would try to take advantage of people vulnerable from bereavement. Thanks for writing.

"Ask Me Anything: A Year of Advice From Dear Annie" is out now! New exhibit offers identity and ‘sense of esteem’

By HALEY CAWTHON
Kokomo Tribune

There are four circles on the wall. Within the first circle, there is an explosion of vibrant colors with fluid, distinguished squiggles. The second circle is lighter, with muted tones and a faint design. The third circle is almost completely empty, aside from four more circles in the right quadrant. And in the fourth, there are just three small lines engulfed by white.

In those four circles displayed at the Indiana University Kokomo Art Gallery, you can visualize the various stages of Alzheimer’s disease.

The artwork — now displayed at the gallery in an exhibit called “The Art of Alzheimer’s Disease” — was created by residents at Waterford Place during a 6-week art therapy group led by IUK professor Brooke Komar this summer.

Each week, Komar and four of her students visited the assisted living facility in Kokomo and assisted Alzheimer’s and dementia patients with creating their very own works of art using various mediums, including watercolors, collages and drip-pour paintings.

The art therapy group is part of a service-learning course created by Komar. Last spring, she and her students held a 16-week art therapy group at the Logansport Juvenile Correctional Facility.

“Part of my job as an educator is to provide opportunities for my students to learn, and the best way to learn, I think, is hands-on and doing,” Komar said. “I wanted to design service-learning courses that would provide vulnerable populations in the community with a valuable clinical service and also provide my students with an opportunity of learning through doing.”

Art therapy not only helps clients become comfortable with the process of creating, but also provides rich clinical data for psychologists, Komar said.

“One of the benefits of exhibiting clients’ artwork is that it gives them a sense of identity and it gives them a sense of esteem,” she continued.

Waterford residents had

Professor Brooke Komar wheels Waterford Place resident and artist Eileen Wade through the “Art of Alzheimer’s Disease” exhibit to look at Wade’s art and the art of her fellow residents at the IUK art gallery inside the student center. Several Waterford Place residents were part of an art therapy program spearheaded by Professor Komar.

several warm-up activities just to get familiar with the materials they were using. The circles, described earlier, were a simple activity that actually depicted the progression of the degeneration associated with Alzheimer’s disease.

An estimated 5.7 million Americans live with Alzheimer’s disease, an irreversible degeneration of the brain causing disruptions in memory, language and eventually physical abilities.

According to the Alzheimer’s Association, beginning stages are often mistaken for natural “aging,” like forgetting newly-learned information. The moderate stage of the disease

includes symptoms such as forgetting events and one’s own personal history, changes in personality and confusion about where they are or what day it is. By the final stage of Alzheimer’s, individuals may lose their ability to walk, sit, stand and speak.

“As the disease progresses, it begins to degenerate multiple areas of the brain,” Komar said. “As that happens, individuals become more and more dependent on their caregivers. They may forget to bathe or feed themselves. When you look at their artwork, you can begin to see that deterioration.”

In addition to warm-up activities, every week, about six to 12 individuals worked on specific projects tailored to their abilities.

“When we work with individuals that have physical limitations, we do what we can to make sure they are still included in the activity,” Komar said. “I’ve had residents that have painted with their toes or put a paintbrush in their mouth — it’s my job to assess what their abilities are and then modify the activity for them.”

During one project, residents were tasked with creating a collage with images that they liked or were meaningful to them. One resident who was wheelchair-bound and couldn’t speak got to pick out the images he liked by Komar holding up one photo after another until he would smile. He chose a dog, an old truck and the number 62.

Pacers top Hornets, Mavs
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Victor Oladipo scored 21 points and Darren Collison added 19 points and nine assists Sunday, leading the Indiana Pacers past Charlotte 120-95.

Indiana has won four of five and improved to 16 games over .500 for the first time since the end of 2013-14.

Kemba Walker had 23 points to lead the Hornets, who had a three-game winning streak snapped. Malik Monk finished with 11 points off the bench for Charlotte, which never led after Collison's 3-pointer midway through the first quarter.

The Pacers jumped to a 32-16 lead late in the first quarter, and then answered a 12-2 Charlotte spurt, which cut the deficit to 34-28, by rebuilding a 45-32 lead. Indiana extended the margin to 17 and led 56-41 at halftime.

In the second half, the Pacers repeatedly fended off Charlotte.

The Hornets got as close as 77-71 when Miles Bridges made his second straight 3 late in the third, but the Pacers scored six straight to close out the quarter and sealed the victory with a 7-0 spurt to make it 99-81 with 6:46 to go.

On Saturday, Tyreke Evans scored 19 points, Domantas Sabonis had 16 points and 11 rebounds, and the Pacers beat the Dallas Mavericks 111-99.

Harrison Barnes scored 20 points for Dallas (20-25), and DeAndre Jordan had 15 points and 16 rebounds. But the Mavericks were unable to overcome a lackluster performance by rookie star Luke Doncic.

Colts sign TE Holmes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Colts have signed veteran tight end Gabe Holmes to a reserve-future contract.

Holmes has made four starts and played 10 career games since 2015. All four starts came last season with Arizona.

The 6-foot-5, 255-pound Holmes also appeared in two games with the Cardinals in 2017 and has been on the practice squads of Arizona, Baltimore, Seattle and Oakland, which signed him as an undrafted rookie in May 2015.

Cincinnati Bengals defensive tackle Geno Atkins, New York Jets left tackle Kelvin Beachum and Los Angeles Rams left tackle Andrew Whitworth are also finalists for the award, which annually recognizes players for exceptional community service in their team cities and hometowns.

Each of the finalists will receive an additional $10,000 for his foundation or charity of choice, with the winner determined through a vote by their NFL peers. The recipient will be announced on Jan. 31 at the NFLPA's Super Bowl press conference in Atlanta and will get a $100,000 donation.

The award was previously known as the Byron Whizzer White Award before being re-established this past fall to honor Page, a Pro Football Hall of Famer who was active with the NFLPA as a player representative in the 1970s and continues to have an impact.

Philadelphia defensive end Chris Long won the award last year.

Losses hit AP's top tier

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — This time, it was the top tier's turn.

The headlines in the AP Top 25 couldn't avoid the stumbles that had befallen their lower-ranked poll peers a week earlier, from top-ranked Duke's home loss to Syracuse to the nation's last two unbeaten teams — No. 2 Michigan and No. 4 Virginia — falling for the first time.

In all, six teams in the top 10 lost at least once to set the stage for significant movement Monday in the new poll — including a possible change at No. 1. Compare that with the previous week, when top-10 teams emerged unscathed and remained in their poll positions while 12 of the 15 teams outside the top 10 lost at least once.

Duke's overtime loss to Syracuse on Monday night, followed by the Wolverines' loss at Wisconsin, could lift third-ranked Tennessee to No. 1 for the first time since 2008.

Hanover men's basketball pulled away in the second half to post a 62-54 victory over Franklin Saturday on the road.

The Panthers, who have now won five in a row and remain in a tie atop the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference standings with Rose-Hulman, trailed 31-29 at halftime but outscored the Grizzlies 33-23 in the second half to post the win.

Cam Fails knocked down six

3-pointers and scored 24 points to lead Hanover. The senior from Cincinnati also had six rebounds and three steals.

Isaac Hibbard added 10 points and six rebounds for the Panthers while Kevin Williams scored nine points and Blake Robertson chipped in eight.

Sam Gutierrez had 19 points and Hanover College dominated the first three quarters and rolled to a 91-66 win at Franklin in women's basketball on Saturday.

The Panthers, who saw their five-game win streak snapped at Mount St. Joseph last week, led 27-18 after the first quarter and expanded that margin to 52-34 at the half. Hanover then led 74-50 after three quarters and cruised from there.

Ten different players scored in the game for Hanover, led by Maleha Motter who posted an impressive double-double of 26 points and 13 rebounds while grabbing four steals and dishing out three assists.

Alexis Nall had 18 points and seven rebounds, Madison's Katie Hartman had 17 points and six rebounds and

Lady Cubs dominate O's to continue surge

COLUMBUS — Madison continued its late-season surge on Saturday, dominating Columbus East on both ends of the floor to roll to a 79-66 girls basketball win on the road.

The Lady Cubs, who have lost only once since Dec. 28 (blowing an 11-point lead in that loss), bottled up East's touted freshman Koryn Greive and got another stellar performance from sophomore Jade Nutley in winning their fourth-straight game and sixth in their last seven.

"We started off (the season) kind of rough and we sat down and talked about some things as a team," Madison senior Bailey Dyer said. "We felt like if we brought more energy it would reflect in our play and I think that's what has really helped a lot."

It was that renewed energy that carried Madison to an upset win over Scottsburg on Tuesday and again in Saturday's victory at East.

Attacking the Olympians (8-11, 1-5 Hoosier Hills) from the tipoff, Madison served notice that it came ready to play. Employing a diamond-and-one defense with Dyer chasing Greive, the Cubs grounded East's offense and turned the O's into a one-dimensional team.

Playing off that defense, Madison got more and more confident as the

Carroll boys, girls split on Saturday

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Carroll County boys basketball dropped a 43-38 decision at Iroquois on Saturday in Louisville, Kentucky.

The Panthers fell behind 23-18 at halftime and still trailed 32-29 after three quarters of the low-scoring affair. Iroquois then held on for the five-point win.

Keishaun Mumphrey scored 16 points to lead Carroll County, which shot just 39 percent (12-of-31) from the floor while committing 17 turnovers. Dane Lacefield knocked down three 3-pointers and added nine points.

Keshawn Dixon had 13 points to pace Iroquois, which also shot 39 percent (14-of-36) from the floor and had 19 turnovers.

Carroll, now 9-8 on the season, visits Henry County on Thursday.

LADY PANTHERS 53, EMINENCE 49

Carroll County's girls basketball team picked up its second-straight win and first in district play 53-49 over Eminence on Saturday in Carrollton.

Freshman Jordyn Shepherd knocked down three 3-pointers and scored a career-high 24 points to lead Carroll County while Andrea Searcy scored 13 points to go with nine rebounds and Amelia Napier added seven points and eight rebounds.

Carroll, now 5-10 overall, 2-2 in the North Central Kentucky Conference and 1-5 in 31st District play, hosts Owen County on Tuesday.

Purdue rolls over No. 25 Indiana 70-55

By ATREYA VERMA
Associated Press

WEST LAFAYETTE — Nojel Eastern delivered at both ends of the court, much to the delight of the Purdue fans at Mackey Arena.

Eastern had 10 points, 10 rebounds and stopped star freshman guard Romeo Langford, leading the Boilermakers past No. 25 Indiana 70-55 Saturday.

Carsen Edwards scored 20 points as the Boilermakers (12-6, 5-2 Big Ten) beat their in-state rivals for the fourth straight time.

Eastern posted his first career double-double. He also helped limit Langford to just four points on 2-for-10 shooting as Indiana (12-6, 4-3) lost its fourth in a row.

Langford committed three turnovers and missed all four of his free throws, drawing chants of "overrated" from the home crowd.

"We knew going in that he was a great player," Purdue center Matt Haarms said of Langford. "We had a great guy guarding him, the best defensive guard in the Big Ten. ... We just made sure we knew where he was at all times."

Purdue used as 12-2 run at the end of the first half to go up by seven. The Boilermakers then made four of their first six 3-pointers in the second half to build a double-digit lead.

"To start the second half, they got going," Indiana coach Archie Miller said. "When they make 3s, they're a different team."

Edwards struggled from the field, making just 6 of 18 shots, but was able to collapse the defense and create opportunities for his teammates. He added seven assists and four rebounds.

"When he makes those passes it really puts the other team in a bind," Purdue coach Matt Painter said.

Purdue's lead ballooned up to as many 19 points with nine minutes to go thanks to a boost from the reserves. The Boilermakers held a 17-10 advantage in bench scoring in large part due to Haarms second-half play.

Purdue freshman Trevion Williams started but got in early foul trouble, resulting in extended minutes for Haarms.

Haarms finished with 12 points (eight in the second half), four assists and four rebounds.

For the Hoosiers, Justin Smith had 15 points and Juwan Morgan 14. They were the only Indiana players in double figures, and they struggled to defend a combination of Purdue centers.

BIG PICTURE

Purdue has won five of its last six games as it enters a pivotal part of conference play.

Indiana's skid has coincided with poor shooting by Langford. He'll need to improve for the Hoosiers to climb back in the Big Ten race.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Indiana will most likely fall out of the AP Top 25 poll and Purdue, which received 16 votes last week, could inch closer to re-entering the poll.

BOILING UP

Purdue has won seven of its last eight matchups against Indiana, the longest such streak in this rivalry since the Boilermakers won eight of nine games from 1968-1973.

HE SAID IT

Miller on playing at Mackey Arena: "It was no different than Duke, Michigan or Arkansas. They have a great crowd, obviously, and they feed off it, and it's a great environment. One of the fun ones to compete in, but I don't think noise had anything to do with (our) execution."

UP NEXT

Purdue plays at Ohio State on Wednesday (TV: Live on BTN at 7 p.m.).

Indiana plays at Northwestern on Tuesday (TV: Live on BTN at 9 p.m.).

UP NEXT

Kentucky hosts No. 24 Mississippi State on Tuesday (TV: Live on ESPN at 7 p.m.) at Rupp Arena.

No. 12 UK holds off No. 14 Auburn

By JOHN ZENOR
AP Sports Writer

AUBURN, Ala. — Tyler Herro and the Kentucky Wildcats didn't flinch when their seemingly comfortable lead was wiped out.

Faced with a hostile crowd and No. 12 Auburn's red-hot Bryce Brown, the 14th-ranked Wildcats survived a big comeback attempt in an 82-80 win on Saturday.

Herro scored 10 points in the final 5:23 and made two free throws with 24 seconds left, then Immanuel Quickley added another.

"This is so hard for these kids," Kentucky coach John Calipari said. "What I'm proud of is we're playing a veteran team that's been through wars, that has been through games like this, that made shots."

"They were down 17 and they never stopped. And guess what? Neither did we."

It made for a dramatic finish for two teams who meet again Feb. 23 in Lexington.

The Wildcats (14-3, 4-1 Southeastern Conference) rebounded after losing a 17-point second-half lead to finish off a showdown between two of the league's top teams.

Auburn (13-4, 2-2) took an 80-79 lead on Jared Harper's contested 3-point shot over Ashton Hagans with 32 seconds left. Herro grabbed the lead back from the line, then Harper held onto the ball for what he hoped would be a game-winner.

The Tigers' 6-foot point guard drove and launched a shot that hit the backboard and bounced off the rim a couple of times but rattled out.

"I knew when I was able to get by him, that I had the angle," Harper said. "I feel like when I shot it, I put it in the right place on the backboard and it just didn't go in."

And the Wildcats breathed a sigh of relief.

"We're lucky to get out of here alive," Calipari said. "We're lucky he missed that little shot."

Quickley grabbed the rebound and was fouled. He made the first of two free throws with 3 seconds left and Samir Doughty's long 3-point heave missed at the buzzer.

Herro and Keldon Johnson both scored 20 points for the Wildcats.

Travis Reid had 17 points and seven rebounds as the Tigers played without injured center Austin Wiley. PJ Washington scored 13.

Brown had 25 of his 28 points in the second half and was 6 of 7 from 3-point range. Harper had 17 points and six assists.

Brown had three points and three turnovers in the first half.

"We just tried to chip away at the lead, little by little, every chance we got and we ended up doing it," he said.

Auburn announced before the game that Wiley is expected to miss "a couple of weeks" with a lower right leg injury.

"Kentucky's bigger at every position and more physical at every position," Auburn coach Bruce Pearl said.

BIG PICTURE

Kentucky weathered the storm after losing the lead. Freshman point guard Hagans had his string of five straight double-digit games end but still filled the stat sheet. He had six points, seven rebounds and six assists.

Auburn heated up after shooting 33 percent in the first half. After that, the Tigers made 8 of 14 3-pointers.

WILEY OUT

Wiley wore a protective boot on his right leg. The 6-foot-11, 260-pounder is averaging 10.8 points, 6.1 rebounds and 1.9 blocked shots per game. His absence gave the Wildcats an even bigger size advantage.

CELEBRATION

Calipari says he didn't plan to call timeout if Auburn's potential go-ahead shot had gone in.

"We were already set up for what we call 'celebration,'" said the Wildcats coach, adding he learned that strategy from Larry Brown. "They celebrate, here we come right down your neck."

SPENCER'S CHANGE

Spencer headed to the locker room with the left side of his face bleeding after what was called a flagrant technical foul against Washington with 1:53 left.

Spencer returned with a different jersey — from No. 0 to

Trimble boys, girls fall at Williamstown

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Evan Stevens and Reece Webster both had big games on offense but that wasn't enough as Trimble County lost 82-64 at Williamstown in the second half of a girls-boys basketball doubleheader on Saturday.

Stevens scored 24 points to lead the Raiders while Webster, who joined the school's 1,000-point club on Friday, added 22 points. Grant Weaver chipped in 10 points for the Raiders.

Trimble, now 6-11 overall and 2-3 in the North Central Kentucky Conference, hosts Brown on Tuesday in a varsity-only contest slated for a 6 p.m. start.

DEMONS 46, LADY RAIDERS 30

Earlier, Trimble County's girls dropped a 46-30 decision to the Lady Demons.

Shelby Wilcoxson scored 16 points to lead the Raiders while Colby O'Connor scored eight. Abby Ponder was limited to just three points.

Trimble, now 3-14 overall and 0-3 in the North Central Kentucky Conference, hosts Henry County today.

PARENTS CONCERNED ABOUT PREGNANT DAUGHTER'S POSSIBLE DEPRESSION

Dear Doctor: My daughter is 16 weeks pregnant with her second child. Her father and I can tell that she's really feeling down, even though she's been trying to hide it. I thought that women get the baby blues after giving birth, not during pregnancy. Is there anything I can do to help her?

Dear Reader: We read and hear a lot about postpartum depression, a form of clinical depression related to the physical, emotional and hormonal changes that accompany childbirth. However, the changes to mood that take place during pregnancy itself, known as perinatal depression, are not nearly as well known. That's unfortunate because an estimated 14 to 23 percent of pregnant women experience some level of depression during pregnancy.

For most of them, it will go unaddressed. Some women say that having symptoms of depression during pregnancy, a time that popular culture associates with joy and anticipation, causes them to feel shame. For many, the physical changes that take place while carrying a baby can obscure the bigger picture of their mental health. That's because a surprising number of symptoms that are common to pregnancy, such as changes to sleep patterns, decreased energy levels, a loss of appetite and a drop in libido, are also common to pregnancy.

Whether it's due to a reluctance to admit to depression, or that the symptoms of the condition have been obscured, the end result is that a significant percentage of women who experience depression during pregnancy don't get help. This can be dangerous to the mother and her baby, and it can adversely affect her family as well. Regular prenatal care is important to the well-being of both mother and child. When someone is depressed, though, making and keeping a series of appointments can be overwhelming. The same goes for eating a healthful diet and getting proper exercise, both of which can take more attention and planning than someone who is depressed can muster on a daily basis. Depression during pregnancy can adversely affect existing relationships, such as with children and spouses. It can interfere with a mother's ability to bond with her new infant after birth, and it is linked to an increased risk of going on to develop postpartum depression.

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists recommends that women get screened for depression at least once during pregnancy. However, anyone who suspects she is experiencing perinatal depression shouldn't wait for her health care provider to take the lead. In the case of your daughter, the fact that she hasn't been successful at hiding her underlying distress from the family makes it likely she realizes something is amiss.

One of the things you can do to help is start talking to her about it. Urge her to open up to her doctor, and if possible, offer to take her to the visit. When people are depressed, necessary self-care can often fall by the wayside.

Should depression be diagnosed, her doctor will discuss treatment options. These include individual psychotherapy, support groups, bright light therapy and, in certain cases, medication. The important thing is to start the conversation and let her know she won't be going through this alone.

Try to find a line, however lucky

By Phillip Alder

Thomas Carlyle, a Scot who claimed that the history of the world is but the biography of great men, said, "It is not a lucky word, this name 'impossible.'"

Sometimes your contract will seem to be impossible to make, but perhaps you will find a lucky distribution. In today's deal, for example, North pushes South into six hearts. After West leads the club 10, there seem to be two inevitable spade losers. But does South have a chance?

Over South's three-heart answer to Stayman, North could have bid an artificial three spades, which would have been a slam-try in hearts. (This works if you use the Smolen convention.) Here, though, North was a registered member of the Real Bridge Players Don't Need Blackwood Club.

Unless there was a very unlikely spade layout that would allow the suit to play for one loser (some four percent!), declarer needed an endplay.

South took the first trick with his club ace, played a trump to the board and returned a low spade. Notice that East could not afford to sacrifice his king; but when he played low, South won with his ace, led another trump to dummy, cashed his four remaining minor-suit winners and ruffed the diamond seven. Then, with four cards left, declarer played a spade. East had to win with his king and lead a minor, which allowed South to sluff his last spade and ruff on the board. Then a spade ruff in hand allowed declarer to draw West's last trump and claim. Whew!

CAM stays perfect in SRC with 52-29 win at Cannelton

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Christian Academy of Madison pulled away in the second quarter to defeat Cannelton 52-29 in boys SRC basketball Saturday on the road.

The Defenders played even with their hosts through the first quarter but exploded for a 17-8 run to take a nine-point lead into the half.

Christian Academy was limited to just 26 points in the second half but Cannelton managed only 12 on its own to allow the Defenders to pull away for the win.

Luke Carter scored 14 points and David Kummer had 13 points to lead Christian Academy. Chase Hoskins added nine.

Jose Flores led Cannelton with eight points.

Christian Academy, now 10-8 overall and 2-0 in the Southern Roads Conference, hosts Assumption Academy (Ky.) on Tuesday.

Mat Cubs go 2-3 at Milan Invite

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Madison's short-handed wrestling team went 2-3 in the Milan Invitational on Saturday.

The Cubs defeated Switzerland County 36-33 and New Washington 54-24 but lost to Jennings County 54-30, Columbus East 66-15 and Milan 54-19.

Eric Leach (195 pounds) went 2-0 on a pair of forfeits to lead the Cubs while Noah Burkhardt (106), Kelsey Bilz (113), Jacob Skirvin (120) 4-1, and Mason Long (138) were all 4-1.

Luke McCarty (145), renton Stockdale (152) and Dylan Fulton (285) were each 3-2, Grason Lee (126) went 1-4, and Caleb Horn (160) went 0-5.

Full results for Switzerland County weren't available, but against Madison Jacob Wolf (120), Austin Wolf (126), Aiden Day (132), Dominic Klem (152), Tyler Leiland (160) and Alec Boggs (220) picked up wins.

Madison and Switzerland County will next hit the mats at the IHSAA Sectional Tournament at Jennings County on Saturday.

BUCKET BREAK: Christian Academy's Clay Carter (31) goes up for a basket at Cannelton on Saturday. The Defenders won 52-29 to improve to 2-0 in the Southern Roads Conference. (Submitted photo)

— Madison's jayvee girls basketball team defeated Columbus East 54-35 Saturday on the road.

Taylor Lynch scored 14 points and Morgan Cahall and Harper Watson had seven points each to lead the Cubs.

Madison, now 15-2 on the season, travels to North Harrison on Tuesday.

game proressed. The Cubs took a 13-8 lead midway through the first and survived a pair of Whitley Rankin 3-pointers to lead 13-11 after one.

Madison (9-12, 2-5 HHC) then scored the first seven points of the second quarter to push ahead by nine and then expanded its lead from there, getting 11 points from Nutley and six more from Harper Watson off the bench in the second period to lead 34-23 at halftime.

The key to Madison's success was the four-man zone and chaser. Greiwe, who entered the game averaging just under 20 points per game, was held to just four in the first half and finished the game with 10. With Dyer draped all over her, the East freshman resorted to firing up 3-pointers from 20 feet and beyond.

"I think it may be easier face-guarding than playing normal defense. I don't have to worry about what anybody else is doing," Dyer said with a laugh. "I was mainly focused on the drive tonight and she did drive on me a few times and she's a really good player. Once she started hitting those threes, I knew I had to get a hand out but I was still focused on the drive."

With Dyer shutting down Greiwe, it was up to the other four Lady Cubs to stop East. The Olympians hit 11 3-pointers in the game but managed only eight twos but got little else.

"Their offense came off of threes tonight and that's what we were looking for," Madison coach Sonja Bowyer said. "We wanted to shut (Greiwe) down and I think Bailey did a great job on her. She wanted to drive in the second half and that's why those threes came open, but we stayed with our game plan."

If not for East's long-range shooting, the game would have been a rout. Madison got baskets from Paige Young and Lundun Perry and a 3-pointer from Dyer to build a 45-28 lead midway through the third quarter and closed that frame on an 8-3 run to push ahead 59-41.

Madison maintained that double-digit lead throughout the fourth but five treys by the Olympians over the final eight minutes allowed them to cut the final margin to 13.

Nutley dominated the paint for a second consecutive game, scoring 28 points on 12-of-19 shooting and pulling down 14 rebounds while dishing out five assists and blocking two shots.

Only seven Madison players saw action in the game but six scored at least eight points. Young, who was held scoreless in the first half, pumped in 16 points on 5-of-8 shooting after halftime while Dyer had 11 points, five assists, six rebounds and three steals.

Perry, Watson and Jessie Dyer each added eight points for the Cubs, who shot 60 percent (32-for-53) overall from the floor and 13-of-16 (81 percent) at the foul line. East was held to 44 percent (24-for-54) shooting and turned the ball over 17 times.

Rankin hit five 3-pointers and scored 17 points to lead East while Kaitlyn Dougherty had three 3-pointers and scored 15 points. Greiwe and Claire Cunningham added 10 points each.

Madison will try to keep its streak going with another tough road game on Tuesday at North Harrison.
